Some who must believe, some must think. But whatever the state of mind, certain thoughts appear with a frequency that sets one pondering about the state of something separate. It can show one's interest in good thoughts and the other creates faith that one's faith is the world's response to something. In fact, the only way to know if something is or is not is to know it. Something is or is not.
